My heart grieves as I join in collectively mourning for little Lieby Kletzky (AH) with the family and the rest of our community.

As a parent of three beautiful children I am besieged with anguish and shudder at the thought of any harm coming my children. As a former NYC police officer, principal and martial arts instructor growing up in the Jewish community I have seen many horrors but none so heinous as this. As one of only eight police officers assigned to the city-wide Youth Outreach Unit I was sent into the public schools to offer a special child safety program for students, teachers, administrative staff, parents and police giving both a simple two hour overview to the full thirty hour program.

I have received many calls from families, educators, media and politicians wanting to know what steps can we take to secure our children from evil that lurks from within our community.

I am offering a Child Safety Specialist course certifying teachers, medical personnel, parents, counselors and anyone who works with children. I urge all schools, camps and youth programs to begin some of these seminars prior to the beginning of the school year. We are also working on a Child Safety DVD which will be available next month.

As a community we have become lax in caring for our most sacred possession, our children. I have witnessed parents leaving their children in their cars as they go shopping, allowing children as young as 6 years old to go home from shul and camp by themselves, camp staff letting their children play in public parks without adequate supervision and much more. While many children in the Yeshiva world know how to make brochot (blessings) and have little or no contact with the internet they do not know how to navigate the perils around them from poor nutrition/fitness to stranger danger.

The program consists of:

How to speak to your kids about Stranger Danger    When to go to the police    How to start a search

Physical Self-Defense for our Children    Performing under pressure    Grief counseling

Compelling your school/shul to have background checks on their employees like the city public schools do

Recognizing some tell-tale signs of potentially violent people

Instituting the Perception Communications and Empathy Method used by the NYPD/Dept. of Ed for Child Safety

I also offer a practical self-defense course for children to learn to resist stranger danger by training them not to be hypnotized by the charms of adult strangers and how to physically resist adults who grab them, pick them up, force them into a car or who try to sexually assault them. Children who practice martial arts with a competent instructor generally are more aware, have better self-esteem, and are more physically developed empowering them to resist an attack better

I am requesting parents who would like to volunteer some time in helping us promote legislation to enact stronger laws to protect our children and to assist in raising the requisite public and private funds to help pay to train the entire community.

Enclosed is a flyer regarding our first safety seminar. Please replicate this and post in all the shuls, schools and camps. May G-d give us the strength to cope and help us help ourselves so we never have to deal with this again.

Sincerely

Rabbi Gavriael Moskowitz 917-916-4681 Gavriael@aol.com Director Child Safety Services

FIGHTING TERROR:

Keeping The World Safe

by Gary Moskowitz

"I support your efforts and look forward to working with you."
-R. James Woolsey, Former CIA Director

This is a book of new strategies and new thinking for our government and law enforcement in the terrorist age. The author's radical safety ideas have been endorsed by such experts as our former CIA Director as well as General James A. Abrahamson (former Director of President Reagan's "Strategic Defense Initiative") who said:

"Mr. Moskowitz's ideas are innovative and can help in the War on terrorism."

Many terrorism experts have warned audiences and cautioned law enforcement about the impending dangers from terrorist cells in North America. But the public—and the politicians did not want to deal with this unpleasant and seemingly distant issue.

In response to the horrific events of 9/11, the people are now ready to listen and the time is right to implement the author's powerful National Security programs to enhance the public's safety and defeat the terrorists. The author proposes that to smash the network of terror we have to create a larger, more sophisticated and more efficient network of protection.

- We must radically restructure law enforcement organizations on local, state & national levels so info. is more easily shared and not hoarded for political gain. Our protection agencies must be cross-trained to be familiar with each other's networks.

- All police would also be trained as investigators rather than our present small percentage who are trained as detectives. Our 12,000 FBI agents (who are supposed to be protecting over 280,000 mill. people) cannot possibly do their jobs without added help. If we take our approx. 650,000 uniformed officers and give them investigative skills, they could be effectively added to the war on terror.

- All law enforcement agencies must be given access to modern technology such as laptop/ palm-size computers (not the old pen/pad methods of the past).

- Make the hierarchies of each agency more accountable, as in the corporate world.

In addition, the author proposes innovative ways to organize students and concern citizens to contribute to public protection.

He proposes service in a new "Safety Corps" program where volunteers & students would receive professional training in security/ investigative techniques. Students would receive college credits/ tuition assistance. He also proposes a "Volunteer Bureau of Investigation" (similar to the Auxiliary Police concept) also comprised of volunteers/ students. Once trained they could help in: interning, information & intelligence gathering, and in research.

- These organizations will teach young adults to:
- Provide community service (while receive college credits)
  - Learn the latest info. on terrorism threats.
  - Work with police & other criminal justice officials
  - Help investigate/ perform necessary administrative skills
  - Network & exchange info with business/ community leaders

This is no mere "think tank" book. It will concentrate on practical, cost-effective measures for reducing and eliminating the dangerous terror threats to the world.

Gary Moskowitz served for 9 yrs as a NYC Police Officer working as an investigator and a consultant to the F.B.I.-N.Y.P.D. Joint Terrorist Task Force. He is now President of United Security Services, Inc. which specializes in police tactical training of aviation crews, skymarshalls & security specialists. He is also Executive Director of the NY-based "Task Force on Counter-Terrorism" a non-profit that trains volunteers in research & criminal investigation of terrorists. Gary holds: 6th Degree Blackbelts in Ju-Jitsu & in Karate, a Blackbelt in Judo & in Oriental Weapons, and is a certified instructor in Special Weapons & Tactics, as well as a former trainer of Israel's "Police Anti-Terrorist Unit". He has a Masters in Education Administration, attended Touro Law School, and is an ordained Rabbi. Gary has received numerous public service awards including the Raoul Wallenberg Award for Public Service.

Stop the Silence of Violence

Kids shooting kids in the street

Bystanders getting shot even in their homes

Kids raising kids in the streets

Families are in Crisis with little parental guidance

Gangs/Posses in control of projects

Minority Communities in Distress

There is currently no city agency that makes crisis intervention house calls for families and individuals.

NYPD responds to clean up the mess after the fact often with little preventive training.

If an arrest is made the family/individual is now involved with the Family/Criminal Justice System possibly for years and the family members now have records which often hurt them for a lifetime.

Prevention Services are necessary!

A new Mandate is needed to protect our communities and help individuals and families at risk

C-911 - Clergy Crisis Prevention

Spiritual First Aid - Making house and street calls

Outreaching to our Youth & Families - "Education on Location"

Participating Clergy will partake in an initial 45-hour Crisis Intervention course given over 5 days. Instructors would be from the Clergy, Mental Health and the Law Enforcement fields.

Crisis Intervention Treatment

Listening, Breathing, Meditation, Nutrition, Health/Fitness, Wisdom, Street Advice, Prayer, conflict prevention

Clergy know their communities and are respected by most.

Clergy usually have continuous pastoral counseling training and experience.

Clergy are highly motivated to assist their communities.

Clergy do not work for the NYPD and are not perceived as a threat to many.

C-911 could free up sorely needed police services. C911 could save the public millions.
